

“Between every two pines is a doorway to a new world.” - John Muir

The Gifted Tree welcomes you to the virtual world of finding your tree planting location. As you know, someone has planted a gift tree in honor of you or someone you love. Your tree has been or will be planted in the Klamath National Forest in California.

The Klamath National Forest is located in northern California (with a small portion of the forest extending into southern Oregon) and covers 1,700,000 acres. In the lower elevations, one finds park-like stands of Ponderosa Pines, while in the higher elevations, the Douglas fir, sub-alpine fir and mixed conifer stands are plentiful. Old growth forest is estimated to cover some 168,000 acres of the forest land.

With the Klamath, Salmon and Scott Rivers meandering from one end of the forest to the other, this beautiful “playground” is a haven for campers, hikers, wildlife watchers, hunters, fishermen, mountain bikers, white water enthusiasts and naturalists.

Once connected to the map, feel free to zoom in and out to get a feel of the general planting area as well as its location in the United States and the world.

Please understand that this is the general area of your tree planting as the reforestation projects conducted by The Gifted Tree take place in a number of regions of the National Forest. Your tree is planted among thousands of other gift trees and there is no plaque designating your gift tree. Our planting partners select and plant trees native to the specific area and the species type will vary depending on what is best for that location.
