

“Between every two pines is a doorway to a new world.” - John Muir

The Gifted Tree welcomes you to the virtual world of finding your tree planting location. As you know, someone has planted a gift tree in honor of you or someone you love. Your tree has been or will be planted in Essex County, England, United Kingdom. Essex county, which lies northeast of London, is a region with very few connected forest habitats owing to its agricultural and urban development. This is within a country that has significantly lower forest cover than other comparable nations. The ecological benefits of creating and connecting woodland are exceptional and the ecology of each planting site is often the primary concern in the planning stages.

The Essex Forest planting project encompasses planting on a range of sites and requirements across the county. Examples include the creation of wet woodland (a UK priority habitat) on river floodplains, habitat creation and connectivity across agricultural land and parkland creation. The project intends to connect people with nature through the planting of trees. Community volunteer support will be encouraged in the planting and maintenance of the trees whose species will include alder, beech, black poplar, blackthorn, crab apple, dog rose, dogwood, downy birch, elder, field maple, hawthorn, hazel, hornbeam, oak, rowan, Scots pine, sea buckthorn, small leaved lime, spindle, sweet chestnut, wild cherry, wild privet, wild service tree, and various willows.

Once connected to the map, feel free to zoom in and out to get a feel of the general planting area, its location in Florida, the United States, and the world. The link is best viewed using a personal computer.

Please understand that this is the general area of your tree planting as our reforestation projects take place in a number of regions of the forest. Your tree is planted among thousands of other gift trees and there is no plaque designating your gift tree. It is not possible to visit the tree.

Enjoy your gifted tree and know that it is making a monumental difference for the earth and opening a new doorway to the world for future generations.
