

“Between every two pines is a doorway to a new world.” - John Muir

The Gifted Tree welcomes you to the virtual world of finding your tree planting location. As you know, someone has planted a gift tree in honor of you or someone you love. Your tree has been or will be planted in Dixie National Forest, Utah. The forest straddles the divide between the Great Basin and the Colorado River in southern Utah. Scenery ranges from desert canyon gorges of amber, rose, and sienna to high mountain forests, plateaus, and alpine lakes. The forest is a part of the world-renowned landscapes of Southern Utah. It provides a backdrop and serves as a gateway to surrounding National Parks and Monuments.

In 2012, the Shingle fire destroyed thousands of acres, predominately ponderosa pines, in this pristine area. This planting project will help re-establish fire tolerant forest cover on part of the Shingle fire footprint. Your tree species will be ponderosa pine which is an important species of tree for the wildlife in the area including elk, mule deer, pronghorn antelope, and northern goshawk.

You can view the general areas of your planting by clicking on the following link:

Once connected to the map, feel free to zoom in and out to get a feel of the general planting area as well as its location in Utah, the U.S., and the world. Please understand that this is the general area of your tree planting. Your tree is planted among thousands of other gift trees and there is no plaque designating your gift tree. Unfortunately, visiting the tree is not possible.

Enjoy your gifted tree and know that it is making a monumental difference for the earth and opening a new doorway to the world for future generations.
